

CVPC response to Charmouth Primary School Consultation - Sept 21

Please see below my response to this online consultation below. I have attached the Draft Plan on a Page with this response for your convenience. Carolyn has responded with comments which I have incorporated and I look forward to further discussion on Monday.

Qu 3 - Strongly agree

Comment: Very important goals with enabling every child to achieve their personal best in the correct place at the top of the list

Qu 4/5 - Agree

Comment: As this area is so predominantly caucasian, possibly more specific reference is needed regarding racial diversity and equal opportunities for all.

Qu 6/7 - Strongly agree/ Agree/ Strongly agree/ Strongly agree

Comment on Objective 2: It is important that families are involved in their children's learning especially as over the past 18 months they have had a taste of what that involves. However, careful attention needs to be paid on getting a balance between the school's expectations of parents and what the parents' expectations are.

Comment on Objective 4: It is important that the objectives are realistic and achievable but possibly there could be reference to the fact that the ultimate aim is to be an outstanding school.

Qu 8/9/10/11 - Agree/ Strongly agree/ Agree/ Agree

Qu 12

Comment on Objective 1: the wording achievement is at least in line with national data... sounds rather underwhelming.

Comment on Objective 3: 'Invest in staff wellbeing and development' should be higher up the list.

Comment on Objective 4: When ensuring that key plans are in place to achieve required improvements there could be some mention of how those plans will be cascaded and monitored throughout the school. It is easy to devise plans but much harder to bring them to fruition.

Qu 13: This is a very well thought out and comprehensive plan which, with the right implementation, will undoubtedly achieve its goals.
